PARTNERSHIP PROFILE

Shared goal: Support youth during out-of-school time activities

Description: AfterOpp, formed in 2017 as part of The Opportunity Project, a citywide intermediary for expanded learning, is an afterschool and summer program that focuses exclusively on middle school students. In response to COVID-19, AfterOpp has continued to support the social, emotional, and overall wellness needs of the community through wellness checks, virtual programming, and social and emotional learning (SEL) activity bags. Although the program does not typically operate during

How do you address inequity?

This is not a top-down programming model. AfterOpp asked families what kinds of activities they wanted for their kids. Many families expressed an interest in having virtual programming, so AfterOpp worked with partners, such as Youth At Heart and Tulsa Debate League, to provide online clubs where small groups of students could participate in Zoom calls, check-ins, and reflections to ensure that they still receive
